

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to acknowledge my heartfelt gratitude and indebtedness to my supervisor, Prof. Farheena Danta for her infinite patience and unfailing generosity in supervising my dissertation. I am grateful to her for her guidance and support throughout the period without which this work would not have been possible.

I must mention Prof. Bijay K. Danta, a member of my doctoral committee, for his scholarly advice, guidance and his steady help and support throughout this long period. I would also like to thank Prof. M.M. Sharma for his valuable advice and support as a member of the Doctoral Committee.

I would also like to thank the Head of the Department, the DRC and the faculty members of the department of EFL for their support and understanding. The office staff at the Department of English and Foreign Languages also need a word of appreciation.

My fellow-researchers in the department of EFL, Tezpur University, deserve special appreciation for being there whenever I needed them: Surajeet Sarmah, Nasmim Akhtar, Nurjahan Begum, Jayprakash Roy, Gitartha Goswami, Nabanita Bhuyan, Rijumoni Gogoi, Pronami Bhattacharya, Lulu Borgohain and others.

I express a debt of gratitude to the Tezpur University Authorities for extending academic and administrative support, whenever called for. The courteous and generous help I have received from the Librarian and staff at the Tezpur Central Library, the staff at the Saraighat C.V. Raman Men's Hostel, and the Tezpur University Guest House at different periods of my research work deserves my appreciation. I also acknowledge the support of the Authorities and my colleagues and friends at C.K.B College, Teok.

I also like to offer a word of thanks to the proprietor and staff of Sonu Computers, Tezpur, for helping me through the printing of the thesis.

I express my gratitude to my family members—my mother, brother, my wife Sima and my son Aryamaan and other friends and relatives for their love and support.

(Junti Boruah)