

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

When I started this research I accumulated considerable debt to several persons and institutions to which I am thankful.

Firstly, I am greatly indebted to my supervisor, Professor Papori Baruah for her understanding, guidance and support. Her prompt reading of the numerous draft versions of my manuscript, the challenging questions and suggestions were crucial to the successful completion of this research work. I fondly remember White Board in her office, her insistence on learning, visual illustrations and extra reading, which simplified my understanding. I am deeply thankful to her professional competencies, intellectual acumen and encouragement that shaped and gave me confidence. I consider myself lucky for having worked with her.

I express my heartfelt appreciation to my Doctoral Committee members, Professor Mrinmoy Kumar Sarma and Professor Chandan Goswami, for their understanding and support. I am thankful to them for their genuine interest in my work, for listening to me, for allowing me to stray and experiment. With gratitude, I remember their guidance and encouragement throughout.

I would like to thank Professor Debabrata Das (Head, Department of Business Administration) and Professor Subhrangshu Sekhar Sarkar (Dean, School of Management Sciences) for their encouragement, insightful comments throughout my PhD period. I am also indebted to all Doctoral Research Committee members of Department of Business Administration for their inspiration, comments and suggestions.

I am grateful to the Indian Council for Social Science Research (ICSSR), New Delhi for offering me Doctoral Fellowship. Without its support, this research undertaking would have been unrealistic.

This work was possible because of the comments and suggestion of many people. I express my gratitude to Professor Kumud Bora of Dibrugarh University, Dr. Ratul Mahanta (Associate Professor) of Gauhati University, Dr. Joydeep Baruah (Associate Professor) and Dr Kalyan Das (Associate Professor) of OKD Institute of Social Change, Guwahati, Dr. Abhijit Sharma (Associate Professor) of Indian Institute of Bank Management, Guwahati, Mr. B.Rani, Regional Coordinator of CAPART and Dr. Amiya Sharma, Executive Director of RGVN and Mr. A.M.M. Zakir, Director, SIRD, Assam. They helped me clarify thought processes, methodologies and improved the quality of this study. On the same note, I am grateful to the Research Advisory Committee of Vivekananda Kendra Institute of Culture, Guwahati and OKD Institute of Social Change, Guwahati for help and constant support.

My thanks are also due to the Board Members, Chief Functionaries, Staff and Volunteers as well as beneficiaries of NGOs that contributed to the study. Special mention has to be made of Dr. Amiya Sharma, Executive Director, RGVN; Fr. Johnson Parakkal, Ex Executive Director, BRO; Mr. Girin Chetia, Secretary, NEADS; Dr. Pradeep Sharma, Executive Director, CRD; Mr. Hem Bhai, Secretary, SSA; Mr. D. Nath, Secretary, SDCCC and Dr. Sanjeev Sikdar, President, DBC. On the same note, I express my gratitude to the Donor Agencies, Supporting Agencies, Government Officials, PRI members and other NGO activists.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to my father Mr. Surendra Nath Borthakur and mother Mrs. Mina Borthakur. I thank you for your special love, support and encouragement. Your courage inspired me to work harder. I thank you for the enormous support; in countless way you made this research work possible.

My Family helped me a great deal while undertaking this work; my brothers Partha Pratim Borthakur and Manash Jyoti Borthakur and my sister in law Banahanshi Goswami. My heartiest love to my nephew Nivir for bringing cheerfulness in my life.

My well-wishers helped me immensely. Revati Didi, Praveen Ji, Rupesh Ji, Sujata Didi, Mira Didi, Dimbeshwar and Manjit da of Vivekananda Kendra, Kanyakumari; Dr. Pradip Sarma, Principal Mazbat College; Babu and Prasanta, without your help, guidance and support life would have been rather meaningless and full of anxiety.

I specially thank my friends, staff and research scholars of department of Business Administration. I cannot mention all by name; all support I received, in terms of encouragement, a smile or a listening ear is deeply treasured.

Although I acknowledged the support of some people and institutions by name, it is certainly not comprehensive and complete. I also thank others who one way or other gave me support.

Above all and everything, I give gratitude, glory, praise and honour to God

Place: Tezpur

Dated: 3st August 2015

(Bhaskar Jyoti Barthakur)