

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

	Page No.
Figure: 1 Map of Assam	xvii
Figure: 2 Mixture of various leaves and herbs to prepare E'pob	50
Figure: 3 Filtration of Po:ro apong	50
Figure: 4 Preservation of Namshing	51
Figure: 5 Namshing preserve in a bamboo tube	51
Figure: 6 Bhedailota , a kind of medicinal creeper	52
Figure: 7 Dimoru , leaves are boiled with éyek	52
Figure: 8 Hati- Khutora , whole plant is used as vegetable	53
Figure: 9 Malisa , a locally available edible leaves	53
Figure: 10 Tenga mora , its leaves and fruits are acidic; cooked with ango and éyek	54
Figure: 11 Notke , leaves are boiled with pork as it is a medicinal plant	54
Figure: 12 A chart to identify the foods and ingredients use by the Mising community	89
Figure: 13 Celebration of Ali- a:ye- Li'gang	102
Figure: 14 A part of the ritual of Ali- a:ye- Li'gang	102
Figure: 15 A kind of alkali prepared by matimah	103
Figure: 16 Herbal based starter cakes E'pob use in preparing apong	104

Figure: 17	A cone- shape bamboo basket Ta:suk is used to extract apong	104
Figure: 18	Purang apin is prepared with boiled rice and packets in green leafs	105
Figure: 19	A locally produce spice Jablang	105
Figure: 20	Pregnancy stage related to food	123
Figure: 21	Sitting arrangement according to the direction of me'ram	128
Figure: 22	Diagrammatic representations of nature, culture and food	139
Figure: 23	Inside view of a chang ghor	146
Figure: 24	Paddy husk and dried paddy straw is partially burned by a woman	147
Figure: 25	Weaving in Mising village	147
Figure: 26	A view of women bringing water from river	148
Figure: 27	Scarcity of food after flood	148
Figure: 28	Mising men ideally sitting	149
Figure: 29	A scene of chang ghor in Matmora region	149
Figure: 30	An act of woman's daily household activity	150
Figure: 31	The active role of women in preparing community feast	150

Figure: 32	Women- men preparing food together during festival	151
Figure: 33	Mouth watering pork prepared in Ali- a:ye- Li'gang	151
Figure: 34	Separate dining hall adjoining to chang ghor	190
Figure: 35	Maintaining ritual in urban areas	190
Figure: 36	New trend of offering apong and éyek in semi- urban areas	191
Figure: 37	Effects of globalization in Mising food: tea replacing apong	191
Figure: 38	Apong is served in traditional utensil in semi- urban area	192
Figure: 39	Commercialization of nogin apong near Subansiri river	192
Figure: 40	"Miri mekhela sador"	193