

Declaration

I, Ms. Kathryn Rai, do hereby declare that my thesis entitled “Brain hemispheric dominance, Metacognitive awareness and Perceptual learning style preferences as correlates of Senior secondary school students’ Academic achievement in Biology” submitted to the Department of Education, School of Humanities and Social sciences, Tezpur University, in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, represents my original research work and has not been submitted anywhere else for any other degree. This research has been carried out by me under the supervision of Dr. Rajinder Singh, Department of Education, Tezpur University, Assam, India. The materials obtained from other sources that were incorporated into this thesis have been duly acknowledged.

Acknowledgements

I wish to express my deepest gratitude and sincere appreciation to the following people who contributed and shared their precious time, support, encouragement, and inspiration for the realization of this endeavor:

My Almighty Father in Heaven, for His blessings, never failing love and abundant grace in my life (Philippians 14:3).

My Supervisor, Dr. Rajinder Singh, for the extremely supportive role he has played throughout my research journey. His most valuable contribution to me has been his time. His busy schedules never hindered him from making time for me to review my work and discuss my progress, which I highly appreciate. He was always there, ready to mentor, ready to help me at any time, day or night. I alone, can understand the crucial role played by his incessant prodding and the confidence he had in my ability to complete this work. I am deeply grateful to him for his exceptional level of care and understanding. Regardless of the challenges we faced in this long journey, he has always been there for me and I couldn't ask for more.

My parents, for always believing that I could achieve this. Thank you for your incessant prayers and support. Thank you for always putting my education first, above everything else.

Prof. Nil Ratan Roy, Former Head of the Department, during whose tenure I completed the pre-submission of my thesis. I have the highest regard for him for being such an empathetic and altruistic person with an egalitarian approach. I am enormously grateful to him for his never-ending support, kindness and good will towards me. In particular, I'd want to express my gratitude for the excellent academic and administrative support he provided throughout the years, and the diligence and promptness with which he handled all of my requests for help.

Dr. Shashapra Chakrawarty, current Head of the Department, under whose term I am completing the final submission of my thesis. I admire her for being a figure of aspiration for all women in the educational field and thank her for her continuous guidance and support throughout my research journey.

The Doctoral Research Committee (DRC) members, Prof. Nil Ratan Roy and Dr. Hitesh Sharma for all their constructive input and continuous support towards the completion of this thesis.

All the other faculty members of the Department of Education, Dr. Yeasmin Sultana, Dr. Pratima Pallai, Dr. Sanghamitra Das, Dr. Shradhanjali Pradhan, Dr. R.D. Padmavathy, Dr. Gopal Singh, Mr. Mohammad Asif, Dr. Akash Ranjan and Dr. Akhilesh Kumar, Tezpur University, for all their insightful comments, observations, and suggestions that made it possible for me to come this far. Thank you for being the nicest, helpful and most understanding teachers.

Tezpur University, for providing the infrastructure and appropriate resources to conduct my research. I cannot think of a better place that offers both support and a serene environment to pursue this endeavor.

The Human Resource Development Department (HRDD), Government of Sikkim, India, for their cooperation and help towards this study.

All the Principals and Vice-principals of the respective schools, for being so accommodating and helpful. I want to thank them for the support they provided in rearranging their time tables, enabling me with enough time to collect data from the students. It will not be possible for me to name each one of them here but I shall remain ever grateful to all of them for their kindness. I also want to thank all the students (from whom I collected data) for their active participation in this study.

My dearest friends, Debolina Mukherjee and Gaurav Sarkar, who are part of my supervisor's research group, and with whom I have experienced this journey the most. I appreciate you being there for me through all the good times and bad. We were and will always be a team, uplifting, encouraging and helping one another.

All the research scholars of my department, for sharing this research journey with me. We experienced an array of faltering hardships and emotions together in this long journey, but none of us ever gave up. We pushed on towards our goals and I shall carry these as life's lessons wherever I go.

Sunita Guleria ma'am, for being a friend and confidante, whose care and concern for me has been my strength throughout this journey.

My closest friends, Dr. H. N. Jones Shangpliang and Ms. Brinda Rai, for their enormous help during my field work in Sikkim. My immense appreciation also goes to my childhood friend, Mr. Paljor Namgyal Bhutia and his parents for their kindness and generosity towards me.

Mr. Konark Rai, alumnus, IIM, Bangalore, India, for offering me immense help, moral support and encouragement throughout this journey. His understanding of Mathematics, his expertise on numerical data, his knowledge, vocabulary and incredible writing skills will always inspire me.

Dr. Deep Jyoti Gurung, Assistant Professor, Dept. of Commerce, Christ University, Bangalore, India, for his assistance in the statistical analysis of my data.

Suman, Anupam dada, Nilakshi, and Amarnath dada, for their invaluable assistance in all official and technical tasks, that helped me come this far. Thank you for being so cooperative and supportive in everything.

Bhupen Chetry dada, for so patiently giving me time and putting a lot of effort into printing this thesis.

Last but not the least, I must acknowledge the unconditional love of Elsa, my pet dog back home in Sikkim and all the stray animals at my university campus in Assam. Thank you, Chumki, Goofy, Tintim, Rony, Kalu cat, Kalu dog, Mimi, Bura 1, Bura 2, Leanie, Danny, Tuktuk, Beta, Beti, Juno, Becky, Bruno, Tinku, Toto, Robin, Dacoit, Lara, Shanky, Bholu, Hachi, Oreo, Lily 1, Lily 2, Cloud, Kaaliya, Sumo, Nima, Munni, Munni's babies, Tiku, Luna, Rocky, Lena, Pintu, Kaali for bringing out the best in me every day.

All my furry friends who have crossed the rainbow bridge- Jeffy, Raatey, Kaaley, Benzy, Bholu, Layla, Daisy, Cheetah, Puipui, Brownie, Alena, Puchki, Tini, Husky, Spirit, Ron, Rambo, and many more, thank you for touching my life in ways you will never know. Because there are so many of them, it will not be possible for me to mention all of them here. I just hope I get to meet you all in heaven one day! I can already picture you ecstatically racing towards me. As bizarre as this research journey was with so many highs and lows, so fulfilled was my soul in receiving their unconditional love throughout, for which I shall remain ever grateful.

Kathryn Rai
