ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Foremost, my sincere gratitude and thanks to my Lord God Almighty who is the same yesterday, today and forever. From the start of my life till today, God has been there and today as I complete my PhD, it is a testimony of His great love and faithfulness to me. I wouldn't be where I am without God and I dedicate everything to Him. I give all glory, honour and praise to Him.

I would like to thank Tezpur University for giving me the opportunity to pursue my PhD and for providing me the space for all round development. I would also like to express my deepest gratitude to my Supervisor, Dr. Juri Gogoi Konwar, Associate Professor, Department of Cultural Studies, Tezpur University for rendering me with all the scholarly guidance and help towards the successful completion of my PhD. She has been very understanding and kind towards every step of my PhD journey which has made working under her guidance a wonderful experience not only academically but in all aspects. I would also like to thank Prof. Debarshi Prasad Nath, HOD for always encouraging me and for all the valuable insights and suggestions in my PhD journey.

I would also like to express my sincere gratitude to all the Faculty members of the Department of Cultural Studies for all the valuable guidance and suggestions rendered towards my PhD journey which has left a deep impact on my work.

My gratitude and love to my grandparents Yekamu Sheqi and Late Ghotheli Sheqi who loved me with all their heart and soul. Their whole life has been dedicated towards praying for their grandchildren and the success of my work is a result of their tireless prayers. My Grandmother is no more but there is never a day that goes by when I don't remember her. Today, as I complete my PhD, I know she would have been the happiest.

My sincere gratitude and deep respect to my parents - Yikishe Sheqi and Ghuvili Sheqi for sacrificing everything to give me the best gift of life –Education, which has brought me thus far. I especially would like to thank my Mother for sacrificing the best years of her life and her health by weaving textiles and selling them supplementing my father's income which enabled us to get the best education. They gave the best of what they had which enabled us to get the best out of life. I can never repay them for sacrificing their happiness and comfort but my sincere prayer is God will bless them with a long and healthy life.

My sincere gratitude to my parents-in-law, Yekheto Shikhu and Kiyeli Shikhu, for all their love, prayers and encouragement they rendered throughout my PhD journey. They have supported me and my family on all fronts and for that we are ever grateful.

I would especially like to thank my husband Inato Y Shikhu without whose never ending love, support and encouragement I wouldn't have been where I am today. In spite of all the challenges and struggles, he has always been my inspiration, ray of hope and encouragement throughout my PhD journey. In all aspects of life, he has been my biggest supporter and cheer leader. My gratitude and love to my children Shelly and Aghuno who have been the source of my greatest joy. Their childhoods have been spent along my PhD journey and they have travelled with me to all my field work journeys as well as involved in everything I have done as I traversed through my research journey, therefore they have also completed their PhDs along with me while they are still toddlers.

Words are inadequate for me to express my deep gratitude and appreciation to my sister in law Vikali Shikhu and my sister Kihoni Sheqi who has been my biggest support system. Their never ending help in taking care of my kids as well as even up to the extent of taking care of my home while I travelled has been the greatest help. Being a mother of toddlers, I needed all the help I could get and their motherly care and love for my kids has been a source of solace as well as the greatest help towards the successful completion of my work. Their never ending and continued support has been and is a source of encouragement for me.

I would like to extend my thanks to all the elders from different Sümi villages who gave me their precious time and through whose wisdom, I could document and complete my PhD. Our elders are the treasures of our community and my sincere wish is that we the younger generation would value them and spend time with them so that our rich cultural heritage will continue to thrive and live on so that one day we can also be wise like them and be in a place to be able to pass on such knowledge to those generations who will come after us.

My gratitude to the Nehru Trust for awarding me the Nehru Trust UK Visiting Fellowship which enabled me to fulfil the nascent dream I had when I started my PhD journey but which I never imagined would become a reality. It became a reality through this prestigious fellowship which enabled me to travel all the way to Pitt Rivers Museum, University of Oxford and document the Sümi cultural materials. I would like to thank Divia Patel, Senior Curator, Victoria and Albert Museum, London for her help as I travelled to the UK and also for showing some of the Naga collections at the Victoria and Albert Museum, London.

My sincere gratitude to Dr. Vibha Joshi, Research Affiliate, SAME & Guest Fellow, EK University of Tuebingen for letting me know about the Nehru Trust fellowship as well as all the help she rendered towards making my journey to Oxford a safe and a wonderful experience. Thank you for sparing your time taking me around.

My deep appreciation to the staff of Pitt Rivers Museum, University of Oxford – Julia Nicholson (Curator and Joint Heads of Collections), Faye Belsey (Deputy Head of Object Collections), Philip Grover (Senior Assistant Curator, Photograph Collections), Nicholas Crowe (Assistant Curator), and Bryony Smerdon (Assistant Curator) for all the support and help they rendered towards my research trip to Oxford a success. The warmth, love and support everyone rendered towards me made all the difference towards the success of my trip.

My gratitude to my friend Buddhi Tamang, his wife Apsara and son Avyaan for welcoming me to their home at Reading, UK and for making the last days of my stay at the UK a wonderful experience. This is something I will cherish all my life.

I would also like to express my sincere gratitude to my siblings, in laws, aunts and uncles and friends who have encouraged, helped and supported me through prayers.
