

CONTENTS

Content Description	Page no.
Abstract	i-vii
Declaration	viii
Certificate of the Supervisor	ix
Acknowledgements	x-xii
Contents	xiii – xvii
List of Images and List of Tables	xviii
List of Figures and List of Maps	xix
Abbreviations	xx – xxi
Chapters
Chapter 1: Introduction
1.1 Ethics and Production : Care Work	1 – 2
1.2 Statement of the Problem	2 – 8
1.3 Research Questions	8 – 9
1.4 Research Objectives	9 – 10
1.5 Affective Tradition and Ageism : Care at Old Age	10 – 13
1.6 Active Ageing and Self-Care : Contemporary Approaches to Care	13 – 17
1.7 Ayahs and their Care Work : A Historical Background	17 – 22

1.8 Care as Women's Work : Feminist Scholarships	22 – 26
1.8.1 Domestic Workers, Nurses and Ayahs : Analysis of Gender and Work	26 – 29
1.9 The Current Debates : Care Practices across the Globe	29 – 35
1.10 Chapterization : Structure of the Thesis	35 – 38
References	38 – 49
Chapter 2: The Study Framework : Theory, Concepts and Methodology
2.1 Experiences and Visions : Researcher's Views	50 – 51
2.2 Theoretical and Conceptual Engagement	51 – 57
2.3 Ethnographic Experiences : Contexts and Events	57 – 64
2.4 Fieldwork and Data Collection	64
2.4.1 Location : The Field Site	64 – 71
2.4.2 Tools and Sampling	71 – 78
2.4.3 Participants' Profile	78 – 83
2.5 Data Analysis and Interpretation	83 – 85
2.6 Ethical Considerations	85 – 88
References	89 – 93
Chapter 3: Regime of Care : Organisation, Practices and Meanings
3.1 The Question of Care	94 – 95
3.2 Institutionalisation of Ayahs and Ayah -Centres	95 – 104

3.2.1 Making of Ayahs and Taste of Labour	104 – 109
3.2.2 Ayahs and their Spatial Interactions	109 – 111
3.2.3 Ayah -centres, Market and the State	111 – 115
3.2.4 Care Work and Creative Capital	115 – 119
3.3 The Elderly as ‘Clients’	119 – 123
3.4 Cityscape, Ageing and Care	123 – 127
3.5 Transacting Validations in Care	127 – 129
3.6 From Self to Social : The Relativity of Care Work	130
References	131 – 135
Chapter 4: Distanced, Mediated and Fictive Kinship : Families in Contemporary Kolkata
4.1 The Focus : Changing Attributes of Kinship	136 – 138
4.2 Distanced Kinship and Conflictive Emotions	138 – 142
4.2.1 Lived Hierarchies and Distanced Kinship	142 – 146
4.3 Mediated Kinship and Relations	146 – 151
4.3.1 Ayahs Mediating Collateral Relations	152 – 154
4.4 Fictive Kinship and Care Work	154 – 156
4.4.1 Interrelatedness in Care	156 – 158
4.4.2 Fictive Kinship, Piety and Resources	158 – 164
4.4.3 Transactions of Property and Fictive Relations	164 – 167

4.5 Ephemerality of Kinship	168
References	169 – 172
Chapter 5: Care, Market and Social Norms : Hierarchy and Politics of Care Work
5.1 The Social Quotient of Ayah Work	173 – 176
5.2 Work, Servility and Sacrality	176 – 181
5.3 Religion as Social Performance	181 – 185
5.3.1 National Entitlements and Domestic Practices	186 – 192
5.4 Caste across Care	192 – 196
5.4.1 Caste, Class and Economic Impulses	197 – 200
5.5 State, Identity and Care	200 – 207
5.6 Care Work : The Artha-Dharma Incentives	207
References	208 – 213
Chapter 6: Crises in Care Work : Between Affinity and Disputed Safety
6.1 Affection and Dissatisfaction : The Underside to Care Work	214 – 216
6.2 Experiences of Autonomy and Repression in Care	216 – 220
6.3 Everyday Crises, Adaptations and Resilience	220 – 223
6.3.1 Food, Sentiments and Hierarchical Roles	223 – 229
6.4 Institutional Landscapes vis-à-vis Ethics of Care Work	229 – 230

6.4.1 Legal Discourses across Care Work	230 – 238
6.4.2 Locating Ayahs across the State	238 – 245
6.5 The Way Forward	245 – 247
References	248 – 252
Chapter 7 : Conclusion
7.1 Understanding the Changing Trajectories of Emotions and Labour	253 – 257
7.2 Discussion : Revisiting the Ethnography	257 - 261
7.3 Ageing and Care : Disciplinary Developments and Global Scope of Elderly Care	261 - 265
7.4 Major Findings and Future Directions	265 - 268
References	268 - 272
Bibliography	273 - 304
List of Publications	305 – 307
Annexure I	308 – 314
Annexure II	315 – 319
Preliminary Consent Form	320