ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This project work is an affirmation of my grand interest in Food Engineering and Technology and its recent innovations. It has been made possible through direct cooperation of various persons for whom I wish to express heart full thanks and gratitude.

I would like to thank Dr. Charu Lata Mahanta, Professor and Dean (R&D), Department of Food Engineering and Technology, Tezpur University, Tezpur, Assam, India for her valuable guidance and keen interest in the subject and help to materialize the present work up. This project would not have been possible, without the guidance of her.

I am grateful for the overwhelming guidance niched by Mr. Dipankar Kalita, Technical Officer, Department of Food Engineering and Technology, Tezpur University, Tezpur, Assam, India for his constant encouragement and suggestions while carrying out the project.

I would like to give my heart full thanks to Mr. D. K. Seth, Dr. M. K. Hazarika, Dr. R. K. Duary, Dr. Poonam Mishra and Mr. Arup Das, Department of Food Engineering and Technology, Tezpur University, Tezpur, Assam, India and all other teaching staff of the university for giving me moral support during this project work.

I would also like to appreciate Miss Sangeeta Saikia, Research scholar, Department of Food Engineering and Technology, Tezpur University, for her constant help and valuable suggestions.

Last but not the least, my sincere gratitude to the Almighty God, my parents, and my friends, whose moral support and encouragement was really helpful in the completion of this project on time.
