ABSTRACT

The Online Application of various Teaching Positions of Tezpur University is database system which is a web-based tool to reduce communication gap between University and Job Aspirants. The Main objective of this solution is to make easy the recruitment process of any vacancy. This system is designed by keeping in mind both administration and Job Aspirants.

This system will provide all teaching recruitment details and a web system to apply online for the available vacancies. With the help of this system a job aspirant can register their details like education qualifications and experience at the system for the job vacancy provided by the Tezpur University from any place through internet. Now the aspirant does not need to visit the University himself, fill up and submit the form.

This system provides the candidates' details and comparative statement of all candidates at Administrator's end. From this system, all unsuccessful attempts for any vacancy can be viewed by Administrator. Administrator does not need to type all candidates' information manually to produce the Candidates' statements, hence it will reduce time and effort.
